

prehension of some unexpected act by the President is removed.

In commenting on the Harvey utterances Senator Johnson of California, one of the bitter-end leaders, said: "Of course Mr. Harvey is entirely right in saying that it would have been a betrayal of the American people to go into the League of Nations either directly or indirectly, openly or covertly. While this is obvious, nevertheless it is refreshing to have official confirmation of it. The language is so plain and unmistakable that no action of this country can now be taken which will take us into the League of Nations or connect us with it, either directly or indirectly, openly or covertly."

Senator Lodge, the Republican leader, refused to comment on the remarks.

"It must have been very interesting to his English audience," said Senator Moses, (Rep., N. H.).

Senator Borah (Rep., Idaho)—It was a fine speech.

HARDING MAY LIMIT FOREIGN LOAN HERE

President Believes Such Borrowing Should Be Barred Unless of Distinct Benefit to U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Without any statement of policy, the Administration has let it be known that it looks with displeasure on private subscription to loans by other governments in cases where the use of the money is not to be of distinct advantage to this nation.

This was taken to mean that the Administration contemplates the erection of a bar against the use of American money by foreign nations outside the United States.

ULSTER IS ARMED FOR ITS ELECTION

Unionists Confident They Will Win a Majority of the Seats.

BELFAST, May 21 (Associated Press).—Ulster on the eve of the elections is like a region at war. Armed cars are everywhere, lorry loads of police and military with rifles come and go, and the military is guarding the headquarters of all royalist activities. Up to the present there have been no more than the usual clashes between rival factions which have occurred in Ulster elections for a generation, and nothing beyond this is anticipated.

The Unionists are very confident, claiming they will win thirty-four out of the fifty-two seats. Thomas Moles, member of the British Parliament for Belfast, who gives this forecast, does not believe the women's vote will make any difference in the result.

GIRL OF 19 KILLED BY JEALOUS SUITOR JUST OFF 5TH AVE.

Streams of Women on Way To Work Flee Wildly as Mexican Opens Fire.

HE ENDS HIS OWN LIFE.

Had Threatened Victim With Vengeance on Account of Attention to Another.

The tawdry troubles of nineteen-year-old Lora Dominguez Lutz, a hal frame worker, and Ambrose Martinez, Mexican ne'er-do-well and a hand in a pencil factory when he did earn his own living, ended in a turmoil of early workers' screams, tangled traffic and revolver shots in West 56th Street, off Fifth Avenue, at 8 o'clock to-day.

Lora Lutz was shot to death and Ambrose Martinez died a little later in Bellevue Hospital after firing a bullet into his own head while standing over her body.

Lora was married four years ago to Rudolph Lutz. They had two children, one of whom died. Lutz went into the army and is still a soldier. Martinez came into her life about two years ago and since she went to work for Goldstein Brothers, at No. 29 West 36th Street about a year ago has frequently appeared there on pay days, demanding her wages and sometimes taking the money from her by force.

Monday she had him arrested for threatening to kill her because of her friendship with another man. She told the magistrate he had threatened to kill her husband before they separated. Martinez was sent to jail for one day with a warning. He hung about the West 56th Street loft building after his release for two days and to-day intercepted the girl as she entered to go to work.

They quarreled and according to J. J. Cunningham, janitor at No. 40 West 56th Street, who was sitting on the steps of the building, Martinez struck her twice in the face. The girl ran through the busy traffic to No. 40, Martinez following, firing three shots at her with a revolver. One of the bullets struck her. The others broke windows in the building over Cunningham's head. The hundreds of women workers streaming to their shops took to doorways or dodged behind trucks.

Office associates, perceiving she needed aid, summoned an ambulance surgeon, and he took her to Volunteer Hospital, suffering from a displaced jaw.

DIES SAVING LIVES OF WIFE, MOTHER IN 5TH AVE. CRUSH

Adolph Heller Run Down on Eve of a Vacation Trip to Paris.

HAD BEEN TO THEATRE.

Caught in Auto Jam Husband Pushes Relatives to Safety.

In saving his wife and her mother last night while crossing Fifth Avenue at 51st Street, Adolph Heller lost his own life. He pushed them to safety as an automobile bore down upon them. He went down before the car. His skull was fractured and he died in Bellevue Hospital soon after he was taken there.

Heller, who was forty-nine years old, lived with his wife at No. 123 East 31st Street. He was a buyer for Saks & Co. For years Mrs. Heller had wished to make a trip to Paris with him, but as these were usually flying trips she did not go, postponing it until such time as they might have a few weeks to spend there.

The opportunity came this year and the couple had booked passage for June 4. Mrs. Anna M. Heller, the mother of Mrs. Heller, had come from Pittsburgh to help her get ready for the journey and bid her goodbye. Last night they were returning from a theatre when they were caught in a traffic jam and an automobile owned and operated by Max Bartel, of No. 433 East Houston Street came upon them.

Mrs. Heller was knocked down by the mudguard as her husband pushed her and Mrs. Meyer in front of him. She was uninjured. Bartel was taken to the East 56th Street Station where a technical charge of homicide was made against him.

PRESBYTERIANS FIGHT DIVORCE AND WIDE-OPEN SUNDAY

Declare Dry Law Violations And "Corrupt" Movies Also Menace Nation.

WINONA LAKE, Ind., May 21.—The Presbyterian General Assembly met here to-day to organize the church's nation-wide fight on "corrupt" movies, easy divorce, Prohibition law violations and "wide-open" Sundays. Orators declared these four evils are threatening the life of America.

James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor, asked the church to help solve the industrial and labor problems of the nation. He advocated the application of the Golden Rule to daily life, and declared that "ours must not be a church of pacifists, but a church of fighters, fearlessly standing for the right."

Dr. H. L. Bowlby, general secretary of the Committee on Sabbath Observance, declared that "powerful amusement and sporting organizations" are in a nation-wide drive to frustrate the church's efforts for a so-called Blue Sunday, and are receiving the "generous support of the press to fool the people."

He declared that if baseball parks and movies are closed on Sundays more people will go to church.

Two New York and John Barababo of No. 1220 Newark Street, North Bergen, were arrested to-day and paroled for examination on Monday as the result of the death of James Fallon Jr., of Tenth and Jackson Streets, West New York, yesterday.

The boy found a star bomb which had been left over from an Italian celebration of which they are alleged to have had charge the night before. He tried it with a match and it did not go off. He then picked it up and it exploded.

Four other boys, Walter Berger, Paul Granger, Thomas de Nero and Victor Sereno, were slightly injured.

TELLS THE COURT A GOOD STORY AND JUDGE FREES HIM

Pat Was Thinking How Mike Refused $10,000 and Accidently Gave Latter's Name.

WHEN "Michael O'Toole" was called on a charge of intoxication in the Bridge Plaza Court to-day, and a man came forward to answer the call, Magistrate Dale looked hard at him.

"That's not your name," said the Magistrate.

"I know it," replied the man. "I'm Patrick Curtin, No. 211 North Eighth Street. When I was arrested I was thinking of a story of a friend of mine, named Michael O'Toole."

"While Mike was working in a hole, a man called down 'Come, Mike, your uncle is dead, and has left you $10,000.' Mike went up, received the money, spent the money on liquor, got drunk, was arrested and fined $10."

"Not long afterward, while working in the hole again, a man called down to him that another uncle was dead and had left him $10,000. 'The devil take him,' said Mike. 'I'll just stay in this hole and die.'"

"Thinking of this story I couldn't help using Mike's name."

"That yarn is worth a suspended sentence," said the Magistrate, as he gave it.

EVANS IS BEATEN BY BRITISH CHAMPION IN INDIVIDUAL GAME

one-stroke lead which Wethered had at the ninth hole.

When the first of the individual matches began the weather was extremely hot. A tremendous crowd followed Tolley and Evans. Tolley won the first hole, three strokes to four, getting down a three-yard putt. The second hole was halved in four, and at the third Tolley ran down a four-yard putt for four, being then 2 up. Evans on the next, 3 to 4, but Tolley was again 2 up at the fifth. The sixth and seventh were halved, while Tolley won the eighth and ninth, which he turned 4 up.

Tolley was too strong with his approach to the pin at the tenth hole, which Evans won in 4 to 6, but after a half in 3 at the eleventh the American led the next hole 1 to 6, through being bunkered. He was again bunkered at the thirteenth and lost in 3 to 4, making Tolley's score 5. The Englishman lost the next hole, but got a half at the fifteenth which gave him the match by 5 up and 3 to play.

CLEAN SWEEP BY AMERICANS IN FOURSOMES.

The American golf team made a clean sweep in the foursomes. All four of the contests were won by American pairs.

Charles W. (Chick) Evans and Robert T. (Bobby) Jones defeated George O. Simpson and U. L. C. Jenkins, 5 up and 3 to play.

Francis Outimet and Jesse P. Guilford defeated Cyril Tolley and E. W. E. Holderness, 3 up and 2 to play.

Dr. Paul Hunter and Wood Platt defeated R. H. De Montmorency and Roger Wethered by one hole.

W. C. Fowkes Jr. and Frederick U. Wright defeated C. C. Aylmer and T. D. Armour, 4 up and 2 to play.

Evans and Jones played sound golf. The Brits were opposing them never looked like holding the Americans, who at the turn stood 5 up. Although the British pair made a great effort on the return journey the Americans won by 5 to 3.

The match between Outimet and Guilford, American stars, and Cyril Tolley, the British champion, with Holderness as his partner, was a much closer affair. Tolley, if not always straight in his shots, hit a long ball, and Holderness was quite steady in his playing. This, with the Americans playing at the top of their form, made it a nip-and-tuck fight from the start, and at the turn the game was all square. Eventually, however, the Americans won rather easily.

In the third match, Montmorency and Wethered, playing an excellent game, were 2 up on the Americans, Hunter and Platt, at the ninth hole. After this, however, the Americans gradually recovered ground and won the match by one up.

JONES GETS THE HONORS FOR THE AMERICANS.

In the leading match Jones had the honors for the Americans and Jenkins for the British. The Americans scored at the first hole, Evans running down a long putt for the hole in 4, to the opponents' 5. The second hole was halved in 4, Simpson having some ill-fortune when his four-yard putt for a 3 curled round the hole.

The Americans won the third in 4 to 6 for the British, the British pair playing the hole rather badly. The fourth also went against the British in 2 to 3, and the Americans became 3 up. Had putting at the finish lost the British this hole in 4 to 5, and the sixth was halved in 4.

At the seventh Jenkins put his tee shot into the dip at the right of the green and missed his putt from a yard's distance. The Americans won by 5 to 3.

$40,000 IN PEARLS PICKED UP ON PIER OF CUNARD LINE

Necklace Found by Customs Guard Kelly After the Arrival of the Aquitania.

A pearl and diamond necklace which, if genuine, is worth $40,000 is in the Appraiser's Stores awaiting a claimant and the claim is awaited with interest by the custom officials because of the circumstances.

Customs Guard E. L. Kelly found the necklace on the cement floor of the Cunard Line pier late last night after all passengers who came in on the Aquitania had departed. It was in the section of the pier where baggage had been examined.

Kelly took the necklace to the Appraiser's Stores to-day. The pearls appear to be genuine. Two platinum clasps, studded with diamonds are elaborate enough to warrant the belief that they would not be placed on a string of imitation pearls.

The customs authorities are going over the declarations of the passengers on the Aquitania to find if anyone declared a pearl necklace with two platinum clasps. If so the task of finding the owner of the property is simple.

But if it was not declared, the question arises: Who dropped it? Did somebody get it past the customs inspectors and clear out on the pier before losing it? Or is it the property of some wealthy woman who will be able to prove that she did not buy it abroad?

A $40,000 mystery!

DRYS DRINK FROM HINKY DINK'S CUPS

Chicago's Famous Beer Emporium Is Now a Quiet Restaurant.

CHICAGO, May 21.—"Here's how," O. G. Christgau of the Anti-Saloon League told George McGinnis, district superintendent of the organization, as they clinched their tea cups in what was Hinky Dink's famous beer palace in Clark Street.

"Amey" retorted McGinnis, who formerly was a minister.

And they drank tea out of the old-time "wash basin" echoers of Hinky's, the biggest in town.

Hinky's has opened as a prosaic restaurant.

REAL MONKEYS WILL THROW COCOANUTS FROM REAL TREES

Los Angeles Hotel Will Give New York Guests a New Kind of Thrill at Dance.

LOS ANGELES, May 21.—HERE is the up-to-date thing in freaks at dances.

Next week the Ambassador Hotel is to open its "Cocoanut Grove" and it proposes to make it a chattering if not a howling success.

Many New Yorkers are guests at that hotel, and of course want the very latest oddity to amuse them.

So the dancers will plead with real monkeys to throw them real cocoanuts from real coconut trees.

This hole in 3 to 3, obtaining a 5-hole lead. They also won the eighth.

From this point the British played better golf. They won the ninth hole, thus making the Americans 5 up at the turn, and also took the tenth and eleventh, reducing the British disadvantage to 3.

The Americans got the twelfth, and the next two being halved, they became 2 up at the turn. The Britishers began to fall away at this point, losing the tenth, twelfth and thirteenth holes. They should have won the eleventh, but failed on an easy putt.

Tolley had been driving badly and was bunkered 4 at several holes. On the sixteenth, with the Americans 2 up, Outimet put his second shot into the bunker, but Guilford made a magnificent recovery to within two yards of the pin and Outimet got the putt to win the hole in 4 to 5, giving the Americans the match by 5 up and 3 to play.

The Outimet-Guilford vs. Tolley-Holderness match was won by the Americans on the homeward journey after even play to the turn. The Britishers began to fall away at this point, losing the tenth, twelfth and thirteenth holes. They should have won the eleventh, but failed on an easy putt.
